Art heist of the century hits local gallery

"They was in and gone before I could put down my sammich"

- Stew the security guard

The Sampsonite Art Gallery is often considered to be one of the nicest and safest galleries to house your work. At least that's what artist Sketchy SweetRight was led to believe. Sketchy is well-known by many elementary school art teachers for his techniques with crayons and his knowledge of paint by numbers. People in the community were devastated to hear that the priceless piece had been taken. When asked about the crime, Mr. SweetRight was quoted as saying: "Priceless?!?! Shoot I spent at least $2.20 in supplies on that piece and I wanna know who's gonna pay me back." Police are looking into the situation but are coming up with very few leads. The security guard that was on duty at the time of the theft has been put on unpaid leave.

The Stars are out!!!

The SweetRight Brothers are heading to the hills. Gus and Sketchy will be performing at the 55th South Atlantic League All-Star Game to be held in Hickory NC on June 17th. This will be the third time the Crawdads have hosted the event.

During a press conference that the SweetRight Brothers held at Billy's BBQ, Sketchy was very animated when he said: "Hey Billy don't be shy with that sauce on my ribs!" Gus was very pleased to make the announcement and followed it up with a second announcement that the duo would be back at LP Frans Stadium on July 5th. Make sure you don't miss either show. Call the Crawdads at (828)-322-3000 for tickets.

THE QUEST FOR 500,000 LIKES

Sketchy & Gus have set out on a path to 500,000 Facebook likes. When the duo was informed that if they reached their goal they would receive race car beds, they immediately made a sign and started their quest. Sketchy told reporters that he plans on making the two cars into bunk beds and claimed the top bunk. Gus didn't seem to like the idea as he informed Sketchy that he would never sleep under him in something that he built. They are asking everyone to go to their Facebook page and help their cause.
